Q8 EU institutional reform preferences

Q8.1 Preferred EU policy area (filter question)

The European Union can take political decisions in several policy areas. However, other policy areas are reserved to the sole competence of the member states. In which of the following policy areas would you prefer most that the EU takes political decisions?

Responses [random rotation of responses, only single choice possible]

Immigration and asylum 1
Disease control and emergency management 2
Climate change and environment 3
International trade agreements 4
Foreign and defense policy 5
Security and anti-terrorism 6
Monetary policy and the common currency 7
Economy and employment 8
Social and welfare policy 9
Education and research 10
Civil liberties and minority rights 11
Structural funds and regional development 12

Q8.2 Conjoint experiment

On the following pages, we present you pairs of fictional EU policy decisions in the area of [POLICY AREA chosen in Q8.1]. Each decision would have a substantial impact on people's lives. The decisions will differ in the following six features:

Bindingness	How binding or optional is the decision for the EU member countries, including [COUNTRY]?
Possibility of being outvoted	If a country, including [COUNTRY], disagrees with the decision, can it be outvoted by other EU member countries?
Citizen participation	How can European citizens influence the decision-making process?
Public information	Is information about the decision-making process publicly available for all citizens?
Benefit for [COUNTRY]	What is the expected benefit of the decision for [COUNTRY]?
Problem-solving	Based on previous experiences with comparable policy decisions, to what degree will the decision solve the underlying policy problem?

Please compare the policy decisions on the following pages with regard to the six features shown above. Then, please indicate which of the two displayed policy decisions you prefer and how much you support each of them.

[Respondents are shown four pairs of policy decisions, for which they are asked to perform a choice and a rating task. For each policy decision, the six attributes mentioned above vary randomly in the following three levels:]

Attribute	Levels	Code
Bindingness	Every country must apply the decision	1
	Single countries may deviate in exceptional circumstances	2
	Each country may apply the decision voluntarily	3
Possibility of being outvoted	A country cannot be outvoted (veto power)	1
	A country can be outvoted only by a large majority (75%)	2
	A country can be outvoted by a small majority (50%)	3
Citizen participation	Through parliamentary elections only	1
	Through parliamentary elections and a citizen consultation	2
	Through parliamentary elections and a referendum	3
Public information	Not available	1
	Available after the decision has been made	2
	Available throughout the whole process	3
Benefit for [COUNTRY]	Less than for other countries	1
	The same as for other countries	2
	More than for other countries	3
Problem-solving	To a small degree	1
	To a moderate degree	2
	To a large degree	3

[See appendix A3 for an original survey example including the choice and rating tasks]

Q8.2a Choice task

Which of the two EU policy decisions would you prefer?

Option A 1
Option B 2

Q8.2b Rating task

How much would you be in favor of or opposed to each EU policy decision?

Q9 EU sanctions (vignette experiment)

Finally, we are interested in what you think about violations of EU rules. Imagine that the European Union claims that [COUNTRY] has violated EU rules regarding democracy and the rule of law. [X] The [COUNTRY's] government defended its actions [Y]. Still, [COUNTRY] may now face sanctions.

Treatments X

X0	[no treatment, control condition]
X1	This claim is based on a complaint by a group of [COUNTRY's] citizens.
X2	This claim is based on an assessment by an independent expert committee.
X3	This claim is based on an assessment by the European Commission.

Treatments Y

Y0	[no treatment, control condition]
Y1	as having been necessary to safeguard its population against the detrimental effects of the Coronavirus
Y2	and accused the EU of illegitimately interfering in [COUNTRY]'s domestic affairs

[All treatment combinations yield 12 different vignettes that were randomly assigned to the respondents. See appendix A4 for an original survey example including the sanction item Q9.1]

Q9.1 Severity of sanctions

In your opinion, to what degree should the action of [COUNTRY] be sanctioned by the EU?

1 There should be no sanctions by the EU 1
2 2
3 3
4 4
5 5
6 There should be severe sanctions by the EU 6

[When "There should be no sanctions by the EU" (1) is chosen, Q9.2 is skipped]

Q9.2 Type of sanctions

Would you consider the following EU sanctions as appropriate responses to the rule violation by [COUNTRY]?

Items [random rotation]

The payment of a substantial fee ..... a
The loss of EU funding ..... b
The suspension of the voting right in the Council of the EU c
