Introduction

Rifò S.r.l. is committed to ensuring ethical and sustainable business practices at all stages of its operations, with particular attention to human rights and the dignity of those involved, either directly or indirectly, in its supply chain. As a B-Corp and Benefit Corporation, Rifò considers respect for human rights, the fight against modern slavery, forced labor, and human trafficking as fundamental principles.

This Policy on Supply Chain Complaint Mechanism complies with the principles of the United Nations on Human Rights, the core conventions of the International Labour Organization (ILO), and the requirements of international standards such as the Global Recycled Standard (GRS) and the World Fair Trade Organization (WFTO). The policy applies to all employees, suppliers, partners, subcontractors, and other stakeholders operating within Rifò's value chain.

Guiding principles

Accessibility

Rifò ensures that all individuals involved in its operations and throughout the supply chain can easily access information regarding their rights and channels for reporting any violations. Transparency is one of the fundamental pillars of our business practices

Confidentiality

All reports concerning suspicious behavior or non-compliant practices, including those related to modern slavery, are handled in strict confidentiality. The identity of the reporting person is protected, unless otherwise required by law.

Impartiality

Investigations into potential violations will be conducted by an independent internal committee or qualified third parties to ensure a fair and unbiased process.

Timeliness

Rifò is committed to responding promptly to any reports received. Responses will be provided within 48 hours of notification, and appropriate analysis and management processes will be initiated within a reasonable timeframe.

Accountability

The company adopts corrective measures in response to non-compliant practices and promotes systemic changes to prevent recurrence. Responsibilities are clearly defined in supplier and employee contracts and are subject to ongoing monitoring.

Scope of application

The grievance procedure applies to:

- All employees of Rifò S.r.l.
- All suppliers and subcontractors (up to Tier 3), regardless of their geographical location
- Business partners, external cooperatives, associations, and NGOs involved in the company's social projects
- Customers, distributors, and third parties involved in return and recycling processes

These parties may file a grievance through the following channels:

- In-person presentations during factory visits with our Production Manager
- By emailing ncipriani@rifo-lab.com
- By visiting the legal headquarters at Via Vincenzo da Filicaia 26/C, 59100 Prato (PO) – Italia

Due diligence mechanisms

Code of Conduct

All suppliers must sign and comply with Rifò's Code of Conduct, which includes specific clauses against forced labor, human trafficking, child labor, and any form of coercion or abuse.

Audits and Monitoring

Supplier production sites are regularly inspected. In 2024, four audits conducted by Bureau Veritas led to the timely identification and resolution of five non-conformities, none of which related to modern slavery. The goal is to extend these audits to all Tier 1 suppliers by 2026.

Risk Assessment

Rifò performs regular assessments of social risk throughout the supply chain, taking into account geographic, sectoral, and historical indicators. Higher-risk areas are subject to strengthened monitoring and on-site visits.

Corrective measures

In the event of a confirmed violation, Rifò will immediately adopt the following measures:

- Immediate termination of the relationship with the supplier involved (in serious violations)
- Implementation of an improvement plan with defined timelines
- Provision of support and remedies to individuals affected by the violation
- Reporting to competent authorities (if necessary)
- Publication of an anonymous and aggregated summary in upcoming Sustainability Reports

Training and awareness

All employees, particularly those involved in production and supplier management, participate each year in training sessions on human rights, recognizing signs of exploitation, and prevention tools. Suppliers are also invited to attend periodic sessions as part of our ethical partnership program.

Policy review

This policy will be reviewed annually or following relevant events (e.g., reports, regulatory changes, critical audits). The objective is to ensure maximum alignment with international standards and developments in the global context.
